

To Whom It May Concern,

I'm writing to recommend Rachel Greene, as a prospective designer to your organization. Rachel worked with me as Graphic Designer, and she's exactly the kind of person you hope to have on your team.

What stood out to me most about Rachel was her eagerness to grow. She didn't just do what was asked of her — she pushed herself to learn new design programs on her own initiative, always looking for ways to sharpen her craft.

She also brought real energy to everything she worked on. Rachel showed up with enthusiasm and a can-do attitude that made her a joy to work alongside. She followed through on her commitments, collaborated well with teammates, and delivered work she could genuinely be proud of.

Beyond the work itself, Rachel is just a good person to have around. She's positive, dependable, and the kind of team member who can really scale with a company.

If you're considering Rachel for a role, I'd encourage you to go for it. She'll bring creativity, heart, and dedication to whatever she takes on — and any team would be lucky to have her.

Feel free to reach out if you'd like to chat more about Rachel.

Sincerely,
Cassie Scroggins
